

Greenland vs Iceland

By Fallon Brown

Think about the two words ICELAND and GREENLAND. Make a web or thought shower of all the words that spring to mind.

A picture speaks a thousand words.

The picture 1
is very green
and there are
two water falls.
and Inbetween
the two water
falls is a big rock ~~and~~ covered in moss.

Picture 2
Both of the water falls lead to the same lake that lake has an island in the middle.

The picture is like a human.
The rapid, torrential and dangerous water falls look like the moustache of Poseidon with his sparkling, white and flowing beards hanging below.

If you look very close
you can just see in the bottom left corner
you can just see the chaotic, knotted, disordered and twisted reeds the snakes of Medusa with her light blue, deadly eyes, which Poseidon has obviously looked into and turned to stone.

A picture speaks a thousand words.

Picture 1

This frosty village is a fluffy, soft and ~~soft~~ seething snow mass
which can only mean one thing. The dangerous and furious Elsa has paid a visit!

Picture 2

I love the colourful houses they obviously support the NHS as the houses are like a rainbow.

The river
is like a big blue monster
with its bright
~~the~~ horizon
as its halo
acting as Jesus.
